

This past year has been a source of unexpected stress and anxiety for so many.

However RESILIENCE can help us get through and overcome the challenges we've been facing due to the pandemic, as well as other adversities we've experienced in life.

But RESILIENCE is not something we're born with - it's built over time and is unique for each of us - that's why we all respond to stressors differently.

So how best to cope and practice RESILIENCE during these uncertain times? We asked people from around Amador County to share how they've been coping, and we hope these examples and stories of RESILIENCE will inspire you!

What RESILIENCE Looks Like...

At Work

"Where I work we started team building projects so we can connect better with each other."

- rock painting with a positive statement
- bingo by email with prizes for the winners
- sharing of baby pictures & vacation dreams
- pet picture games
- sharing favorite recipes in place of potlucks

RESILIENCE:

the ability to adapt, adjust, and recover after bad things happen
